

*C
Cont.*

providing a support surface for an integrated circuit chip, said substrate, insulating layer and support surface forming part of a chip carrier;

supporting an integrated circuit chip with said chip carrier; and providing a layer of magnetic field shielding material in contact with said integrated circuit chip which shields said integrated circuit chip from external magnetic fields.

---